Move at Your Own Pace
If you’re looking for a simple starting point, consider the Grow Individual Capacity options. If you’re looking for a longer relationship with deeper impacts, consider options from our Tackle Tough Challenges and Shift Organizational Culture menus. No matter where you start, consider these options the building blocks to a long-term strategy to infuse leadership in your culture.

Branded Materials
The KLC framework with your logo and branding on specific materials.

Immediate Application
Not only will your employees gain new skills, they immediately apply them to individual or organizational challenges. We’ll use these challenges live in the room, creating immediate experimentation on the stuff that matters.

A Proven Framework that Adapts to You
Do you have past leadership initiatives or problem solving techniques that are already embedded in your culture? The KLC framework relies on the belief that no matter your role in the organization, you have a role to play in making progress. This commitment to train the many instead of the few at the top means we’re happy to integrate your culture, language and past endeavors into our work.

We’re Ready When You Are

When Everyone Leads

Tough challenges are all around us. They can seem unsolvable, unreachable and beyond our ability to grasp what needs to be done. For an organization to begin seeing and solving its toughest challenges, starting with the mindset is a must. More employees need to see leadership differently and to self-authorize themselves to act on identified adaptive challenges. Choose the When Everyone Leads program to set the foundation for a culture shift within your organization.

Grow Individual Capacity

360 Leadership Assessment & Coaching

Leadership 360 Assessments help individuals focus on three key things: knowing how you are experienced or perceived in your role by others, identifying where your interpersonal and professional skills are enhancing or detracting from your greatest success, and measuring progress on your intentional skill development and goals over time. While many 360 assessments are administered electronically and are based on ratings of behaviors, this 360 Assessment is administered through an interview format and revolves around KLC’s adaptive leadership framework with a certified KLC coach involved every step of the way.

9-12 MONTH ENGAGEMENT
This coaching engagement includes:
• 6, 1-hour coaching sessions
• 5, 30-minute interviews
• 360 Assessment Report and debrief
• Individual Development Plan
• Summary Report at end of engagement

Individual Leadership Coaching

Use our International Coach Federation (ICF) certified team to help someone in your organization find greater purpose, enhance performance and make more progress toward their goals.

Tackle Tough Challenges

Are you facing a specific business challenge that requires a different approach? Do you have managers and individuals who could benefit from targeted training relating to your organization’s challenges? Let KLC design a custom training experience for your organization.

Breakthrough Leadership Program

Research study findings from KLC’s Third Floor Research indicates that to get more people using leadership skills to make progress, they need multiple doses of leadership development to create lasting behavior change. With this research in mind, KLC would provide a multi-session program that introduces the KLC leadership framework within the context of a specific leadership challenge at the organization. Participants would also complete a learning and working style inventory assessment and utilize customized materials to guide and track their learning. The program is then followed by three, 90-minute application sessions to solidify the learning and increase the chances of progress being made.

Team or Group Coaching

Coaching provides a safe place and trustworthy process for teams or groups to work through difficult situations and/or seize opportunities by applying leadership skills and knowledge in real time. The KLC coach will provide 6, one-hour coaching sessions to help the team or group:

- diagnose the places where they feel most stuck,
- explore ways to move challenges and people forward,
- engage others in a healthy, trustworthy manner,
- identify potential opportunities that need skillful interventions,
- manage themselves in the midst of uncertainty and conflict.

3-DAY PROGRAM OR 6 HALF-DAY PROGRAM

IN-PERSON OR VIRTUAL

Up to 40 participants per cohort

Two days consecutively, followed by several weeks to practice new skills and a final session for accountability and applying ideas to individual challenges.

6 SESSIONS OVER 3-6 MONTHS

Minimum Coaching Contract

A KLC coach will provide team coaching to an existing team that shares a team challenge, and group coaching to a group of individuals with individual challenges.

Bridging the Gap

Organizations of every size will inevitably face challenges and opportunities with no clear steps on how to move forward. To help add clarity and direction, KLC will facilitate a training for teams or organizations looking to diagnose and understand their biggest challenges and imagine new ways to move forward. The gap conversation will focus on elevating a range of aspirations, exploring concerns about the team’s current situation, and articulating what makes it difficult to bridge the gap between the current reality and stated aspirations. After the facilitated gap conversation, KLC will produce an executive summary for the partner, containing analysis on the gap conversation and recommendations regarding capacity building and experimentation for progress. This process also includes a debrief of the executive summary virtually.

1/2 DAY SESSION, IN-PERSON OR VIRTUAL

Core team of 5-10 individuals who share collective work or challenges. May be combined with additional Foundations of Leadership sessions to create a full-day experience.
Shift Organizational Culture

Anyone can lead, anywhere, anytime. Infuse and practice this thinking system-wide. Facilitation experiences designed for organizations looking to embed leadership into their company culture.

Leadership Architecture

In the same way that architects draft blueprints when designing a new house or building, KLC and organization will intentionally create space to envision key strategic interventions and approaches for building the leadership capacity of employees at every level. Imagine a set of 3-4 intentional meetings that help KLC and organization align on leadership language, outcomes and strategy for the partnership. By the end of this work, it should be clear how the values and aspirations of the organization are built into the KLC leadership engagements.

Organizational Impact Roadmap

Your organization has a mission and vision, but have you named the impact you want to have and the resources and strategies needed to get there? Businesses and non-profits that get clear on how their resources and strategies clearly flow toward their desired impact make more progress and create a more committed employee or volunteer base. In this facilitated session, KLC will walk you through the creation of a roadmap that will create a clear purpose and direction for your organization. While this isn’t strategic planning, the end product of this experience will help you better tell those within your organization, and those outside, what the collective work is for all involved.

Leadership Development Path

At KLC we know that when everyone leads the toughest challenges get seen and solved. Research findings from KLC’s Third Floor Research indicate multiple doses of adaptive leadership engagements are necessary and that over time, continued space to train and practice adaptive tools leads to culture change. Below is a description of a generic leadership development path for organizations:

- When Everyone Leads Program: For an organization to begin seeing and solving its toughest challenges, starting with the mindset is a must. More employees need to see leadership differently and to self-authorize themselves to act on identified adaptive challenges. KLC recommends the When Everyone Leads program to set the foundation for a culture shift within the organization.

- Your Leadership Edge Program: Those who want to advance to the next stage of development will focus on the toolset individuals need in order to make progress on adaptive challenges. The 2-day Your Leadership Edge program introduces individuals to the KLC framework and equips them with a set of tools to lead more effectively.

- Breakthrough Leadership Program: Once the KLC Framework begins to saturate the system, it’s important to support application at a higher level. The 3-day Breakthrough Leadership program will help participants see pathways to put learning into action around specific challenges at organization.

- Make Leadership Less Risky Session: KLC research suggests increased title and role requires a different shift in engagement that helps those with a high level of authority support others using the ideas, maybe even more so than putting the skills and behaviors into action. KLC recommends a 2-hour Make Leadership Less Risky session tailored to how executive team members can support innovation and experimentation at organization.

LEADership Coaching Program

Acts of leadership are more likely to happen in an environment where relationships between managers and direct reports are strong and productive. Having basic coaching skills will help them handle employee relations, navigate tough conversations, give the work back and see every conversation as an opportunity to empower and develop direct reports. Coaching—by managers—helps employees navigate both technical and adaptive aspects of their role. Coaching is also useful in peer relationships as a process for supporting one another to exercise more leadership and successfully address adaptive challenges at organization. Participants who bring coaching skills and a shared set of leadership competencies to their conversations with direct reports will be well-poised to help their employees acknowledge barriers, set goals and identify ways to grow and develop within their role.

3-DAY PROGRAM, IN-PERSON OR VIRTUAL

Up to 40 participants per cohort

Equip the Champions

Developing the skills of internal champions is a crucial step in this journey and will contribute to your organization’s efforts to infuse a growth mindset at all levels. This facilitated experience creates practice space for your participants to begin teaching the KLC framework within your context. Build the long-term capacity of your organization to infuse the ability of all employees to lead anywhere, anytime. You’ll have a team trained and ready to onboard new employees, teach ongoing continuing education programs, and move groups forward on specific challenges. And the KLC teaching team will always be behind this group ready to support their work moving forward.
